Results of School Passes Grade 1 to 8

Following is a list of all children successfully passing their school grades during the term just ended. This list was handed to The Star by the officials of the Wainwright School Division, and show only those who are to attend the higher grades next term. They are not arranged in order of merit, but alphabetically as near as possible. The new grade one students who will be starting school this year are expected to reach a larger figure than during the past year or so. At present the School Division has a tentative list of those who are expected to attend and the count now stands at 21. This number will no doubt be increased by the school opening date.

War Dead Honored at Re-dedication

Pictured above is the memorial clock tower re-dedication held Wednesday afternoon last, July 30th. Mr. Chas. Horn, president of the local Branch of the Canadian Legion can be seen with Major General Worthington, who was on hand to do the unveiling. Other dignitaries included Bishop, Barfoot of Edmonton; S. O. Heckbert, president of the Alberta Canadian Legion; Mayor Robinson of Wainwright. In the right center it shows the choir which was on hand, and at the lower left it shows a few members of the Ladies Auxiliary. The soldiers in the center foreground are members of the Princess Patricia Canadian Light Infantry who acted as guard of honour for the day.

Shown above is the new and the old. The lower tablet was the one unveiled in September 1925, to honour the war dead of World War I. The upper tablet is the one unveiled last week, honouring the dead of World War II. The flowers were laid at the base of the clock during the ceremony by families in remembrance of their loved ones, and by other organizations in memory of those who gave their lives.

Two New Buildings Started Last Week

Two modern buildings have now their foundations laid as a result of workmen starting on the new Buffalo Service Garage and the Tury and Peacock Garage.

Both these buildings will be located on Second Avenue West on the north side of the avenue. At present the cement foundations are in the drying stage, but work is expected to start on the building proper by the time the paper reaches its subscribers.

The Buffalo Service Station is to be located immediately west of the present building, as an addition, and it will be 40 by 100 ft., making a total length 70 feet wide by 80 to 100 feet long. This will give a total floor area of 6400 square feet. Mr. A. Rattray, proprietor of the Buffalo Service, said that he hoped to be in the new premises as soon as the building was ready. He expressed concern over the shortage of materials, but said that a good deal of the material needed was located already. The building is to be constructed of cement blocks and will have a flat roof.

The new Tury and Peacock building is fast making progress, having a head start on the other building by a few days. Mr. L. Tury stated to the Star, that the new building is planned to be 30 by 82 feet and also will be of cement block construction with a flat roof. Mr. Tury said that in all cases he expected that the new building will be ready for occupancy sometime during October of this year. Total area of this building will be 4100 square feet.

These two modern buildings will help fill the area which has been vacant since the disastrous fire of 1929 which completely leveled this portion of the business section.

The owners of these structures are to be congratulated on their foresight and faith in the future of this community. New buildings have been lacking the past 17 years and construction of any type is to be welcomed here.

M.D. Office Gets Face Lifting

Somewhat late, but better late than never, the office of the Municipal District of Wainwright is this week getting its spring cleaning and general clean and paint-up. With the summer months Mr. Wilbraham stated things were slower than at any other time of year and he said that it was the best time of year to have the work done. Also with the district agriculturalist on his holidays it affords ample opportunity to do his office with little or no upset in the D.A.'s routine. Mr. F. Madden, however, is present without an office and the paint brushes are being wielded at the time of writing.

The new color scheme is buff glossy paint with white glossy ceilings. The floors at present are not varnished but it is expected that this will be done at the week-end when the office will be vacant. Other wood paneling has been given a coat of clear varnish which improves the surface look 100%.

Mr. Wilbraham stated to the Star that this redecoration job would not cost the ratepayers a cent as the money received from the Provincial Government in rent for the District Agriculturalist's office each month had been set aside for this purpose.

A.F.U. District No. 7 Convention Held

The annual District Convention of District 7 Alberta Farmers' Union was held in Vermilion on July 24th, 1947.

Although it was the first day of the Vermilion Fair, delegates from all over the district sat for 12 hours in very hot weather in the Masonic Hall and were welcomed to Vermilion by Mayor Morrison, and heard reports and addresses from their District Officers and President, Carl J. Stittgen on the year work and on the policies and activities of the Union.

During the last two years the Union has grown from 58 locals to over 90 locals and by December of 1946 the membership had grown to over 5,300.

The convention was also briefly addressed by Mr. Andrew Wood, vice president of the U.F.A. and Mr. Buckingham, District Agriculturalist for Crop District 10.

The following Officers and District Board Sub-Directors were elected for the coming year: District Director on Central Board, Mr. G. Thindall of Fabyan; District President, E. P. Taylor, Hope Valley Local; Vice

Hundreds Watch Impressive Ceremony Wednesday Last

Impressive and thoughtful was the ceremony of the memorial plaque unveiling held Wednesday afternoon last, July 30th, at the memorial clock tower in Wainwright.

This is the second ceremony of a like nature to be held at this edifice during the past 22 years, the first being held in September 1925, to honor the fallen of World War I. At that time the clock tower, as we know it today, was built by members of the I.O.O.F., at an approximate cost of $2000.00, from native stone gathered from the Wainwright district. At that time the dedication consisted of prayer by the efforts of the ladies who worked so hard to see the final result of their toil stand as a mark in the history of Wainwright. J. Taylor; Navy; Mr. Bob Wilbraham; Army; Capt. J. W. Reeves; Air Force; and possibly in the whole British Empire. Also the war dead were given the highest praise for their sacrifice and heroism. A sacrifice that never can be recorded in values. At that time Major General Grzeschak had the honor of unveiling the plaque that is a witness to the elements of time and weather.

This recent ceremony followed along somewhat the same pattern as before, except more attention was paid to the memory of the fallen and less to the clock tower itself. Starting promptly at 3:00 p.m., the different units on parade marched into their respective positions with the P.C.C.I. forming the Guard of Honour immediately south of the memorial. The Wainwright Sea Cadets came next and members of the Wainwright Branch of the Canadian Legion turning up in third place. Mr. Carl S. Heckbert, Provincial President of the Canadian Legion, BEBSA, gave a few opening remarks, welcoming the gathering to the re-dedication and explained in few words the purpose of the gathering together. The ceremony was opened by the playing of the hymn "O God Our Help in Ages Past" which was sung by the choir of the Wainwright United Church. The choir on hand helped considerably with this hymn and credit is due to the members. Mr. Heckbert then introduced the Right Reverend Bishop Barfoot, Bishop of Edmonton, who gave a very fitting address as to re-dedicating the memorial in the memory of the men and women who gave their all for their country.

Major General Worthington was called upon next to unveil the plaque, bearing the names of those fallen. A few well chosen words he complimented the citizens of the town and district, the members of the Canadian Legion, and others who had helped to make Wainwright's memorial one of the finest. After his address he pulled the ribbon which held the Union Jack in place over the plaque, and the flag we all know so well, fell down the other side leaving a memorial plaque inscribed with names for all the world to see.

Captain Gordon Troyer, the Wainwright.

Local Citizenry Watch Army Scheme

Special invitation of Major General Worthington, G.O.C. Western Army Command, Mr. P. M. Armshaw had the privilege last Saturday morning of inviting 25 other people to participate in a visit to the army camp south of Wainwright. Mr. Armshaw arranged for different people of the town to watch this army display, but due to last minute changes only eight of the originally arranged for members could attend.

Those in attendance besides Mr. Armshaw were Mayor Robinson, W. Coleman, Mesdames C. Madill, G. Pigeon, R. Carl, L. Stuart and W. Stetle.

The party left for the camp early Saturday morning and arrived there to view field operations while they were in full swing. It was a normal scheme with no frills or other technicalities, but just as the soldiers and officers would normally go through their paces on any day of a field exercise.

Aircraft coverage was provided for the affair by 415 Squadron, Edmonton, giving the men in the attack something to worry about. The aircraft dropped practice bombs and scored near hits. Other units included tanks, mortars, infantry, heavy gun carriers, etc. The actual orders and instructions were heard over a public address system by the spectators and was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

This is the first time that the public has witnessed anything along the line that was witnessed Saturday. It was a treat that would have been well worth seeing by all, but unfortunately only a limited number could be accommodated.

wright Camp Padre, then read the scripture, blessing the memorial and honouring the fallen. His address closed with a short prayer.

Mr. Chas. Horn, president of the Wainwright Branch of the Canadian Legion, was then called upon to read the names of the people who had given their lives for their country. (Editor's note: This list will be found at the end of the story).

The next item on the agenda consisted of laying wreaths. The clock tower base at the conclusion was very impressive and a large number of flowers and wreaths were placed. The wreaths were laid in order by those elected to do so, and consisted of: Honoured Mother, Mrs. J. Taylor; Navy; Mr. Bob Wilbraham; Army; Capt. J. W. Reeves; Air Force; and possibly in the whole British Empire. Also the war dead were given the highest praise for their sacrifice and heroism. A sacrifice that never can be recorded in values. At that time Major General Grzeschak had the honor of unveiling the plaque that is a witness to the elements of time and weather.

The Right Rev. Bishop Barfoot then called for two minutes silence, after which the Last Post was sounded by a member of the Canadian Legion, Chas. O. Heckbert. The official ceremony closed with the National Anthem and a benediction. The parading company continued on page 5.

Carnival Last Week A Disappointment

From the standpoint of the patron the carnival and Wild Life show that visited Wainwright last Friday and Saturday turned out to be a farce. This outfit was brought into town under the sponsorship of the Board of Trade to help raise funds for the Peace Memorial Centre, and while the Board of Trade did receive a certain sum of money in connection with this group, the whole affair left much to be desired. Midway consisted of one ride for children which did very little business as it was rather tame, ten or so games of chance, and a tent with a few animals which were open to display at an outlandish price.

Dr. J. E. Bradley, chairman of this committee of the Board of Trade, said in an interview with the Star, that if it were known before hand just what type of a carnival this was it would never have been under sponsorship of the Board of Trade. He regretted ever letting the carnival enter but he stated that after they were here there was very little that could be done as a contract had already been signed.

The net amount of money received by the Board of Trade has not yet been determined as there are certain accounts outstanding at present time, but the gross amount ran well over the $150 figure. Just what proportion of this money is to be turned over to the P.M.C. will be decided at a future meeting of the B. of T.

Undulant Fever In Municipality

(Editorial)

One case of undulant fever was reported last week as a patient entered the local hospital for treatment. This person, whose name is withheld, happens to be a farmer from the Chauvin District and has been drinking and using raw milk from his own herd of cows. The cows were infected with Bangs disease and the owner did not know it until the disease struck the household.

The patient, now recovered enough has returned to his home at that point, but is still under the doctor's care. He is improving as quickly as can be expected.

This is a typical example of laziness in our health laws. Had the milk been pasteurized first the disease would never have occurred. It might be alright to pass the matter off as having no interest here, but this story could be repeated again and again. Pasteurization of milk is the only safe way. It is time that steps were taken to prevent this dread disease from ever entering the hospital door again. There's always a first time. Let there never be a second.

NOTICE

The Doctors of the Wainwright Clinic wish to announce that on and after August 4th, 1947, their offices will be located in the new Clinic building on 4th Ave. and Main Street (just north of the Post Office).

Farewell Party Held for Mrs. Harden

On Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. Tury, the ladies of the United Church met to honor Mrs. Arnold Harden, who is leaving to make her home in Calgary.

About 25 ladies were present. A pleasant social hour was spent and during the afternoon Mrs. Harden, on behalf of the ladies, presented Mrs. Harden with a gift.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. R. Taylor, Mrs. J. Thompson and Mrs. J. Peacock, served a delectable lunch before the gathering broke up after wishing the guest of honor every success and happiness in her new home.

Local Blood Donors to Report August 11th

On Monday, August 11th, the Canadian Red Cross Society's new Blood Transfusion Service will visit Wainwright for the taking of blood from voluntary donors.

The clinic will be held from 5:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at the Town Hall.

Appointments are now being arranged for those already registered with the Wainwright Branch of the Red Cross. However, to ensure a sufficient supply for the visiting clinic anyone who has not yet registered is asked to contact Mrs. Gordon Graham or any member of the local branch.

Through the support of voluntary blood donors the Red Cross will supply all Alberta hospitals with free whole blood and plasma. The hospital, to receive this service, must in turn supply it entirely free of charge to any patient in need of a blood transfusion.

The visiting mobile clinic will be staffed by a doctor and several nurses and technicians. Members of the Local Red Cross will serve refreshments and be in charge of the rest rooms.

On Tuesday, August 12th, the mobile clinic will visit Irma between the hours of 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Official point out that there is no discomfort in giving a donation nor does it affect the health of the donor. Those who have donated blood to the Red Cross before and have signed up again are asked to bring their donor cards. The new transfusion service donations will be credited towards the various buttons awarded the donors.

In British Columbia the first province to be organized, nearly 6,000 bottles of blood were distributed free of charge to hospitals during the first three months of operation. Any patient in need of a transfusion receives it entirely free of any charge.

Sweating Pipes Not Faulty

"Sweating" pipes and plumbing fixtures in summertime are not a sign of faulty plumbing, advises the Canadian Institute of Plumbing and Heating. Due to condensation of water vapor in the air, beads of moisture will form in warm weather on any pipes and fixtures containing cold water.

Normally, when not in use, the water and fixtures will warm rapidly to room temperature and the condensation will stop. When a closet tank or other fixtures continue to "sweat" for hours after it has been used, it is a sign that cold water is continuing to flow through it, possibly due to wrong adjustment or a leaking valve. A careful check will show where the trouble lies.

Stains or moisture at the base of the closet bowl indicate that the joint between the closet and its outlet has failed and should be reset immediately to prevent rotting of the floor structure, damage to the plaster of the ceiling below, and possible leakage of sewer gas into the home.

WATER AT CAMP

Health officers at Ottawa issue a seasonal warning to summer campers that care must be taken with rural water supplies. If a camp is remote from a tested water source it is urged that local health authorities be asked to examine and certify it. Unless and until a medical officer has given it the o.k., all water should be boiled before use. Even sparkling waters may be contaminated.

CONTINUATION OF A.F.U. DISTRICT 7 CONVENTION

anik, Beauvallon; S.D. 2, O. Armstrong, Allandale; H. E. Eyba, Wildmere Local; for S.D. 3, Sub-district 4, W. A. Beatty, Kitcoy; S.D. 5, Beth Clark, Fabian; S.D. 6, E. Belanger, Pelican Local; S.D. 8, Fred Olson, Pearson. No one being present from S.D. 7 it was left open temporarily.

Resolutions passed by the convention dealt with the following matters: proposed any increase in freight rates, called for a Federal ruling on Daylight Saving Time (the farmers want it to be Standard Time all across the Dominion and falling action by the Dominion that Standard Time be made the rule in Alberta till a plebiscite can be taken at the next Provincial Election.

Other resolutions called for raising the initial payment for wheat to $1.60 per bushel retroactive to cover the 1946-47 crop. Endorsed the action of the Provincial Convention in turning down amalgamation under the proposed draft constitution which would have included the commercial organizations and further endorsed the mandate of the convention to attempt to amalgamate with the Bonus Fide farmer members of the UFA adding a proviso as follows: "Providing we do not have to sacrifice the principles of Direct Action and the right to co-operate with Labor and similar groups."

The Convention also called for the world price to be paid for all wheat used for milling and distilling in Canada by the Millers and Brewers or Distillers; and for the price to be paid for all coarse grains to be brought more into line with the world market price for coarse grains.

This was a very successful gathering and great interest was taken in all questions discussed.

The next District Convention will be held in Wainwright in accordance with a resolution to alternate between Vermilion and Wainwright passed in 1946. - Con. E.R.F.

AN OPPORTUNITY TO SAVE A LIFE

Contributed

It is difficult to read a newspaper without reading of accidents and violent deaths. In many cases the difference between life and death for the victims can be blood transfusion. Every hour of the day there is someone who needs blood—your blood.

The Canadian Red Cross Society, carrying on its great humanitarian work in peacetime, as it did during the war, is setting up a Blood Transfusion Service throughout Canada.

This new and vital service came into being in Alberta last month. That's where you, as a citizen of this community come in. Next week a mobile clinic of the Blood Transfusion Service will visit your district.

Blood donated to the Canadian Red Cross will be given free to hospitals in Alberta, which in turn will give it free to anyone in need of a blood transfusion. Not one penny will be charged for the blood collected by this service.

The success of the entire scheme depends upon whether YOU respond to the call for blood donors. Anyone between the ages of 18 and 65 can volunteer. There is no pain or discomfort and you are only asked to donate blood twice a year.

Help make this great life saving endeavour a success in your community.

Go to your local Red Cross Branch and volunteer to-day. Be ready when the clinic arrives next week. Tell them you wish to save a life!

YOU'LL BE THE WINNER

This week the editorial column is apt to savor as much of advertising as it does opinions or news. A question is to be put before the readers of The Star, which if a satisfactory answer is obtained is going to mean "money in pocket" for someone.

It has been the honest opinion of the Editor for some time, what Wainwright needs, and not only the town but the surrounding district as well, is some type of small industry. Not stopping there, it not only needs one small industry, but two or three should be welcomed.

Wainwright and surrounding district is primarily a farm industry town, and while the farm organizations of the country have contributed greatly to the wealth, happiness and welfare of Wainwright and will continue to do so for time to come it has been the general consensus of opinion that other small industries would be an added attraction to that wealth, happiness and welfare.

During the past ten years in our sister country to the south, the United States, the movement of industries has taken a definite turn of a back to the country trend. The word that describes the movement fully, is called decentralization of industry. The war just recently concluded helped in no short way to bring this about.

The idea of scattering industries into the country to make them less vulnerable from air attacks caught on, and today the success shown by such a move has carried the idea still further, and today hundreds of small industries are moving away from the metropolis centres. The movement has shown that employees are more contented, housing is more freely available, overhead is less for the owners and many other factors have entered in the picture, making the trend away from cities into smaller towns.

Just how Wainwright could benefit from such a move is not hard to picture. We have now within our trading area two or three small industries and they have definitely shown that financial gain would be the direct result for the country surrounding the town. BUT... here's the catch! What is it going to be? That's where our readers come in. We have racked our brains trying to think of any such industry or working which might be interesting to set up within our borders, to no avail. Just because we have no solution though does not mean there is no solution to the problem. Surely someone within the district will have some idea of some small industry or works which would benefit the people of this district as a whole.

The Wainwright Star has taken it upon itself to offer prizes for any worthwhile suggestion which is received. The prizes will not be large, but they will be large enough to warrant the use of one's thinking power for a matter of ten minutes and then transferring those thoughts to paper. The Board of Trade of the town has not been consulted yet as to this offer, but it is our intention to have the executive of the Wainwright and District Board of Trade act as the judges. Anyone may enter and they may enter as many suggestions as they wish. There is nothing to buy or sell and the contest will be open to anyone living within a 50 mile radius of Wainwright, with the exception of the employees of The Star. Just write your suggestion as to what type of industry should or might locate in Wainwright and mail it to The Star. That's all there is to it. The idea of this contest is to find suggestions as to the type of industry which might be induced to locate here.

We have one of the cheapest fuels—natural gas, which definitely is in our favor, also relatively cheap electricity and a water and sewerage system to be installed within the next few years. All these factors would enter into any industry location and they are advantageous factors.

No doubt the Town of Wainwright could be induced to offer space on a tax free proposition for say five or ten years which would help in inducing an industry location. Prizes have been set at $5.00 for first, $3.00 for second, and $2.00 for third. This is comparatively easy money, but we want the entries. It is no contest if only three people take the effort to enter. It certainly isn't a hard contest so why not enter as soon as you read this.

Just jot down the type of industry, if possible the name of any particular manufacturing company in that industry, and mail it to us. The contest will close midnight, September 30th, and the decision of the judges will be final. The industry does not have to locate here for your money, all we want is the most practical suggestion as to what type of industry might locate here. If someone can think of an industry which would use raw material which is close at hand so much the better.

It's up to you now, so send in your entries at once. Someone is going to be the winner and it might just as well be you.

Hints for the Household

RECIPES

THE GLORY OF THE GARDEN

The problem today is not "what shall I have for dinner?" but "which vegetables or how many shall I cook?" This is the time when every plant seems to be at its peak of growth. The early vegetables are still producing and late ones are beginning to develop.

Fresh vegetables are delicious in their variety of colour and texture if simply boiled and served with a little butter, but the same vegetables eaten entirely new if cooked in a variety of ways.

The familiar mixture of peas and carrots is all very well but lacks originality. If these two vegetables are served together why not have the carrots whole and peas served over them or if the whole or sliced carrots are sprinkled with chopped carrots and the peas served in a sauce, the result is more interesting.

For cooking most of the summer vegetables a small amount of water in a closely covered pan is recommended and of course the vegetables should be cooked until just tender but they should retain a little of their fresh crispness.

The home economists of the Con. Summer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture suggest several unusual ways to serve summer vegetables.

If we use potatoes, hot and buttered are sprinkled with freshly chopped mint leaves it eliminates making mint sauce to serve with the roast of lamb and they are specially good too.

Hot String-Bean Salad Bowl

- 1 1/2 lbs. string beans, cut up (4 cups cooked)
- 3 slices bacon, diced
- 3 minced green onions
- 1/4 tablespoon Olden vinegar
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 large bunch lettuce
- 4 hot hard-boiled eggs, sliced

Cook beans until tender; drain.

Saute bacon until crisp. Combine next 6 ingredients. Cut up greens in bowl; top with hot beans and eggs. Pour seasoning and hot bacon with fat over all. Toss well. Serve 4.

Macaroni and Vegetable Dinner

- 1/2 package elbow macaroni (1 1/2 cups)
- 2 tablespoons fat
- 1/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs
- 1/4 cup fat
- 1/2 cup flour
- 2 1/2 cups milk
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 2 eggs
- 1/4 cup vinegar
- 1 teaspoon mustard
- 6 whole carrots
- 2 cups cooked butter beans
- 1 cup cooked green peas

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until tender; drain. Melt 2 tablespoons fat, add bread crumbs and brown. Add cooked macaroni and mix well. Keep hot. Melt 1/4 cup fat in top of double boiler, blend in flour, add milk and pepper. Cook stirring constantly, until it thickens.

Beat eggs, vinegar and mustard with some of the hot mixture, return to double boiler and cook 3 minutes. Arrange vegetables around macaroni on a serving platter, pour sauce over macaroni. Six servings.

Stuffed Vegetable Marrow

Cut a small marrow in half lengthwise and remove seeds. Place marrow halves on a greased baking sheet and fill with the following mixture.

- 9 cups soft stale bread crumbs
- 1 small onion
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon poultry seasoning
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 2 tablespoons melted fat.

Bake for 1 hour in a moderate oven, 350° F. Six servings.

Color Scheme Important For Children

Children are a problem on rainy days when they cannot play outside. If they show an inclination to stray from the playground, have you ever thought that maybe the color scheme isn't attractive to them?

According to color experts, children first learn to distinguish between black and white, next between red and blue, and later between green and yellow, but it is usually somewhat difficult for them to distinguish between orange and yellow.

Pastel shades which delight the eye of the grown-up usually have little or no appeal for small children. It is therefore evident that the use of fairly strong colors in reasonable amounts is permissible and in fact desirable in a nursery or playroom. This does not mean that the walls and ceilings should be vivid. It means, rather, that the accent colors may be strong. Too much strong color is nerve racking, even to a child.

The furniture in the children's room is important. Many people furnish these rooms with gloomy cast-offs from other rooms. That is all right, nothing develops nerves and a temper faster than being forced to live and play among the unadorned discards of the older generation.

The walls and ceilings of nurseries and playrooms should be washable and sanitary—that means the use of paints, the most practical and economical way of achieving the desired results.

The colors should be clear-cut and of a cheerful variety. A deep cream ceiling would look good when complemented by walls of soft light blue, with animals and birds stencilled in red, black and deep blue. The floor of such a room could have a rug of deep blue, and the curtains could be white with light blue or red dots. The furniture should be sturdy, possibly painted French grey decorated with red. A novel touch can be achieved by substituting alphabetical blocks for the regular drawer knobs. A bedspread of blue tufted in red would complete the effect.

Another room which appeals to children has the ceiling and upper walls painted buff, the lower walls deep rose, the floor grey with the furniture Nile green. The rug is red.

and buff, the curtains are white with red dots and ruffles. Those are only a couple of suggestions. The shape of the room, the amount of available light and personal preference will probably suggest variations. But whatever the color scheme, it should be planned with the taste of the child in mind. A room of their own helps keep children contented until the weather clears—particularly if it is colorfully and appealingly decorated.

FARMING NOTES

By Prov. Dept. of Agriculture

MINERALS IN A POULTRY RATION

The parts which minerals play in the body of a bird are many and varied. Besides furnishing the framework through bone formation, they serve important roles in regulating, maintaining, and reproducing, says Morris Novikoff, Poultry Division, Central Experimental Farm. Fortunately most of the essential minerals are supplied by the common ingredients of a poultry ration. While most feeds of plant origin are low in chlorine and sodium and, with the exception of green feeds, low in calcium, feeds of animal origin are rich in most of the important minerals required by birds. The tendency, however, is to reduce the amount of feed from animal sources to a minimum; for example, substituting meat meal in part by soy meal and also reducing the amount of fish meal in the ration. The mineral problem thus becomes critical. What, then, must be added to the diet to supplement the minerals removed by reduction in feeds from animal sources? On the surface it appears a simple matter to include more bone meal, or defluorinated rock phosphate to supply additional calcium and phosphorus, or oyster shell or limestone for calcium only, iodized salt for sodium, chlorine and iodine, and manganese sulphate for manganese.

Knowledge in mineral metabolism is as yet very limited since there is much to be determined with regard to the so-called "trace" elements, the minerals that are present in very minute quantity in the ration. It has been shown that certain deficiencies are sometimes found when birds range on some soils, and are not found where they are raised on other areas.

It is evident, that as soils are depleted of their natural minerals by continued crop farming, these deficiencies will show up in a lowered mineral content of the plant and thus in the amount of fish meal in the ration. It should be mentioned that certain minerals when found in excess in forage crops or grains are definitely poisonous. For example, selenium at a level of 5 parts per million, and fluorine at 2 parts per million are harmful to poultry. The difficulty in the balancing of minerals is the interaction and inter-relationship that occurs within the bird itself, one mineral affecting the function of another. For example, an excess of calcium increases the requirement for manganese, potassium increases must be counterbalanced by sodium, while the presence of arsenic counteracts the poisonous effects of selenium.

It can readily be seen that the kind and amount of minerals in each poultry ration will depend upon the mineral content of each of the ingredients and the formula used for the ration. As the mineral content varies widely within each ingredient as well as in different rations it is obviously impossible for anyone to make up a so-called "mineral mixture" to be added in a stipulated amount to any and all rations.

The fact that the available knowledge as yet is so limited and the reaction of one element with another is so intricate suggests that the addition of trace elements to mixed feeds for general use is as yet not justified excepting where proved deficiencies of such elements exist.

GAUGING GROWTH

In childhood, developmental changes are usually as gradual as they are definite. Because nature functions so smoothly, many of her trends may not even be apparent to untrained eyes. That is why Canadian authorities advise constant check-up of growing children by physicians and other experts qualified to read the signs and, in gauging development, able to direct it along healthful channels.

Impressive Ceremony

ies then marched off to their respective parade grounds with Major General Worthington taking the salute at the march past of the P.P.C.I.L. under Lieut. Basham; the Sea Cadets under Hon. Lieut. Williamson and the local Branch of the Canadian Legion under Comrade R. Morrison. Much credit is due to the officers and men of the P.P.C.I.L., the Canadian Legion, the Sea Cadets, the ladies still reading in the district of the I.O.G.E., and many others who worked faithfully and helped to make the ceremony the impressive sight it was. In Major General Worthington's own words, "Let us not make it a memorial to be used only once or twice a year, but let this memorial be a living memory of the men and women from this district who paid the supreme sacrifice. They have given their all, let each and every one of us never forget that fact."

Names inscribed on the tablet are: Baker, F. C. Kowalechuk T. Bachelor, J. McLeod, W. Berg, L. A. G. Mills, G. E. Briault, E. Ruete, T. M. Briault, P. Rowe, C. K. Coffield, L. C. Schlitt, G. H. STUDY THE EYES

"Better to have your children grow up to enter the world of affairs with less-impressive scholastic honors, than as neurasthenics whose life may have been warped in the quest for book learning."

This advice to parents comes from health officials at Ottawa. They point out that intensive school work can lead to eye-strain, with consequent harm to the nervous system, and recommend that children's vision be checked frequently.

New Insect Repellent Discovered

Another product of the war whose peace time application will prove a boon to bush workers and farmers is now being made commercially available in the form of insect repellent developed by the U.S. Navy. Once before the Northern frontiers were pushed back for Canadian wheat growers by Dr. Charles E. Saunders' famed climate resisting grains. Now born of war, the new formula will rush, even more quickly, the peace-time march of civilization into the wilderness. A newly discovered American Naval formula will permit men of the out-doors to put in a full working day, a day completely free of mosquitoes, black flies, and other winged insects.

This greaseless, stainless and virtually odorless insect repellent is the result of three years' intensive research by the United States Naval Medical Research Institute, at Bethesda, Md. Spurred on by the demands of jungle fighters that an effective repellent be produced, chemists discovered formula "448"—the result of

Dear Sir:

Kindly change my subscription address from P.O. Box 512, Hedley, B.C. to read: P. J. Bottaro, P.O. Box 4, Princeton, B.C.

As a former resident of Wainwright and district of from twenty to thirty years ago, I still find the Star interesting.

Yours truly,

P. J. BOTTARO.

Youth Camps in Canada's National Parks

Delightful summer camping areas are found in the national parks of Canada, which afford excellent opportunities for holidays "off the beaten path". In addition to the spacious public camp-grounds within these parks, a number of organizations have established permanent camps. They include Army Cadets, meat-hall, water system, playgrounds and tent line. Parts of the former officers' quarters and guardroom of the old fortress in Fort Lacombe National Historic Park in Quebec are being used as a youth training centre.

The youth organizations of Canada are using the public domain of the national parks to do one of Canada's most important jobs—training her young citizens. Most young people like to play in groups. The group instinct is inherent in almost every youth, and can be a force for either good or evil in their lives. Many of these youth organizations have leaders who served in the armed forces, and there are also a great many school teachers who devote holidays and spare time to this worthy work.

"As the twig is bent—so the tree grows!" Most youth organizations follow a training program which includes team games, swimming, boating, life-saving, first-aid, handicrafts, campcraft, and map using. Developing the team spirit through games helps to train the camper in self-control and good sportsmanship.
Life-saving and first-aid train young people to act spontaneously in cases of emergency. Map using develops resourcefulness in getting from place to place, even in unfamiliar territory.
The youth of today are also gaining considerable knowledge in the outdoor classroom. National park wardens are available for lectures and demonstrations in connection with wardens' service activities. Protection of wildlife, conservation of the forests, and fire-fighting. Surely gives the youth a new kind of experience, and a proprietary interest in the natural resources and their value to the nation. When groups plan to leave the main highways and cigarettes. (20-8)
